UGC seeks details and proof from varsities

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Bengaluru: To ensure that International Yoga Day is observed in letter and spirit by all educational institutions with most of their students taking part, the HRD ministry has issued a circular asking universities to detail all activities that their affiliate institutions will conduct.

The varsities have also been told to submit video recordings of the events held on the day. The UGC has asked universities to follow the Common Yoga Protocol 2017 to avoid any problems. The protocol is the format decided by the ministry of Ayush, detailing the sequence of postures to be followed, fundamentals of yoga and precautions to be taken before and after performing yoga.

However, a cross-section of colleges contacted by TOI for their International Yoga Day schedule said they were either unaware about the circular or had received it as late as June 19. Those admitting to having received the letter said they needed a day's time to plan events as per protocol.

Some colleges, though, are preparing for the big day in advance as per prior notification. "Rehearsals have been going on. On June 21, 200 students will showcase yoga as part of the day-long celebrations. They will also take part in an interactive session with other students to pursue yoga," Father Abraham from Christ University said.

Padma Shekhar from Bangalore Samskrit University said it has organized a special lecture by Dr Mahabaleshwar Bhat, while students and teachers will perform yoga during the two-hour programme starting 11am.

One of the biggest events, expecting footfall of about 3,000, has been organized by PES University. Vidwan Shankar Shanbogue and troupe will perform to the rendition of Yoga Geete - Sugama Sangeeta from 10.30am to 11.30am, followed by health awareness programmes.

AoL celebrations in 150 countries

At least 150 countries are set to join Art of Living's International Day of Yoga celebrations. Under this, more than 50 million yoga enthusiasts from all over the world are expected to gather in front of a popular landmark in their cities and salute the rising sun as part of the 'Sun never sets on yoga' movement.

Inmates of 21 prisons across the country will also gather for this year's Yoga Day celebrations. Over 25,000 trained yoga teachers from the organization will lead the Centre's Common Yoga Protocol 2017 for millions across the globe. TNN
