Medical learning resources are vital for all healthcare professionals to strengthen their knowledge of medical subjects. In today's digital era, e-resources play an important role because of their accessibility, convenience, and ability to deliver the most up-to-date information for education, clinical practice, and research. Our library currently provides access to leading digital medical platforms, including ClinicalKey – a comprehensive clinical reference with textbooks, journals, guidelines, and multimedia. UpToDate – an evidence-based, point-of-care resource widely used for clinical decision support. AccessMedicine – recently added to our collection, this premier digital platform offers authoritative, current, and interactive medical content designed to support students, educators, and healthcare professionals. Dr. Muninaraya C., Registrar, SDUAHER, emphasized the importance of training sessions that provide practical tips and tricks for effectively using AccessMedicine. He highlighted that such training will greatly enhance users' ability to acquire and apply medical knowledge. Dr. Prabhakar K., Principal, SDUMC, urged stakeholders to utilise the subscribed e-resources in their day-to-day teaching activities actively. He emphasized that consistent use of these tools will enrich both teaching and learning outcomes. He further stated that optimum use of these resources requires the Librarian to conduct department-level orientations for all stakeholders, including MBBS students of SDUMC, and encouraged publishers to organize such training programs. He also congratulated the Library team for their efforts in enhancing access to digital learning resources.
